

Access and Inclusion Champions Expression of Interest Form

What's this all about?

We're looking for caring people to help us make council spaces, services, programs and events more inclusive. You don't need to be an expert – just someone who wants to share ideas or experiences that help people with disability, or those who care for them, feel welcomed and included.

Being an Access & Inclusion Champion is flexible – you choose how and when to take part.

What you might do

- Join casual chats (online or in person)
- Give feedback on council projects or plans
- Take part in workshops on specific topics
- Suggest ideas to make things easier for everyone
- Share your lived experience
- Raise concerns or community insights

How you can contribute

- Share your voice in ways that suit you: writing, art, video, audio, in person
- Listen in when you want – no pressure to speak
- Opt in and opt out as life allows – we understand!

Who's this for?

Anyone who's passionate about inclusion – especially people with lived experience of disability.

Interested?

We'd love to hear from you – whether you're ready to jump in or just curious. Start small and see how it feels.
